Public Speaking	Tuesday 11:15- 13:15	Tuesday 11:15- 13:15	Tuesday 11:15- 13:15	Tuesday 11:15- 13:15	Using a combination of written words and improvised speech the students will learn new techniques through repetition and practical-based learning. Session 1: Why is public speaking important, and how will I use it in my everyday life? We begin with building confidence and learning the basic techniques of how to use our voice and physicality in the correct way and with effect. Session 2: Motivational Speaking and Sales Techniques. This class looks at how to use language and expression to connect and inspire an audience. We continue to build on our previous skills but find out how to add expression and change of pace to hold our audience's attention. Session 3: Discussion & Debate. Students will work both individually and as part of a team to deliver their ideas clearly and concisely. We will learn how to express our opinions in a calm and charismatic manner whilst using our vocal skills to connect and influence an audience. Session 4: Self Presentation. The ability to talk about oneself confidently and effectively is great preparation for job interviews, university applications, and even business deals. Using all the skills they have learned previously, students are helped to write their own presentation and present it to the group.

Social Media Marketing	Tuesday 8:45 - 10:45	Tuesday 8:45 - 10:45	Tuesday 8:45 - 10:45	Tuesday 8:45 - 10:45	This course offers an introduction to social media and its evolving role in today's society. It will explore the advantages of social media marketing and how well-executed campaigns can significantly enhance the visibility and success of businesses and brands. We will begin with learning the basics of marketing and learning the essentials that underpin any marketing strategy (not just via social media). Throughout the sessions, we will examine current trends and campaigns, analyzing the factors behind their success. Following an exploration of various marketing strategies, students will be tasked with designing their own strategy for a business of their choice. The course will also provide practical advice on creating compelling content, emphasizing the importance of having a solid strategic plan rather than simply focusing on content production. Students will have the opportunity to produce content on social media platforms of their choice, aligning it with their developed marketing strategies. Additionally, the course will cover the complexities of social media algorithms and offer insights into how brands and individuals can monetize their presence on different platforms.

Filmmaking	Monday 11:15- 13:15	Monday 11:15- 13:15	Monday 11:15- 13:15	Monday 11:15- 13:15	In the first session, we discuss filmmaking in general, looking at various examples and genres. We then get the class to think about characterization and what makes a good story. Finally, we team them up into groups where they get creative and come up with 2-4 characters, thinking about their background, what makes them tick, personalities, etc. In the next lesson, we concentrate on the story. Whereby they work on coming up with a short plotline where the characters interact. We put a focus on a beginning, middle, and end, to create a cohesive self-contained storyline. Then we start work on storyboarding the film, putting together the various shots that make the final film. Our next lesson is spent actually filming their script/storyboard, using all the things they've learned so far. Finally, they spend a session editing their films together on a PC and adding sound effects, before they gather together for a group presentation of their films.
