Public Speaking	Monday 11:15- 13:15	Monday 11:15- 13:15	Monday 11:15- 13:15	Monday 11:15- 13:15	Each session focuses on different aspects of public speaking and self-presentation, allowing campers to progressively enhance their skills through practical exercises and real-life scenarios. The inclusion of motivational speaking, sales pitches, debate, and self-presentation ensures that campers receive a comprehensive education in effective communication techniques. Encouraging campers to present to the group and apply what they've learned further reinforces their learning experience. Overall, it appears to be a valuable program for developing confidence and essential communication skills in campers.

Social Media Marketing	Tuesday 8:45 - 10:45	Tuesday 8:45 - 10:45	Tuesday 8:45 - 10:45	Tuesday 8:45 - 10:45	This short course will provide an overview of social media and its current place within society. It will delve into the benefits of social media marketing and how effective social media marketing campaigns can benefit companies and brands. Over the sessions, we will take a look at current campaigns and trends and start to unpick how and why they have been successful. After studying marketing strategies, campers will create a strategy of their own for a company of their choice. Embedded will be tips and tricks on how to create effective content whilst unpicking the importance of a clear strategic plan over pure content creation. The campers will get a chance to create their own content on social media platforms of their choice, which will directly correlate with their previous marketing strategy. We will also look into the intricacies and ever-changing algorithms of social media, while teaching the campers ways in which brands and individuals can make money from individual platforms.

Filmmaking	Tuesday 11:15- 13:15	Tuesday 11:15- 13:15	Tuesday 11:15- 13:15	Tuesday 11:15- 13:15	This film making course starts with a general discussion about film making, with examples and demonstrations then gets the class to think about characters and break up into groups where they are encouraged to come up with 2-4 characters, thinking about background, identity, what makes them tick etc. In the next part campers devise a short story where the characters they've created interact. With focus on a beginning, middle and end. Then the campers work on storyboarding and scripting their story. The third section of the course is spent actually filming their script/storyboard. And finally, the last section is all about the editing process. Using popular film editing software on the class PCs and ending with the presentation of their finished film to the class.
